OKEELANTA PLANTATION USES TRAILERS for hauling farmers' cane from field to sugar house

Sugarcane Filling Economic Void For Vegetable Farmers

Okeelanta Purchasing Farmers' Cane For A Profitable Venture

Okeelanta Plantation, under the new ownership of experienced sugar operators, is contributing materially to the economic stability of the Glades not only in producing a million dollar crop, but also thru its policy of accepting contracts to purchase cane grown by farmers in the vicinity of its mill.

Because of a fall crop on the red-ink side of the ledger, generally, and an early winter market that leaves the bank account a bit emaciated, the economic value of a crop of sugarcane is being diversified.

Okeelanta has finished the grinding of its own 125,000 ton crop and has been busy this week handling the cane of its contract growers. — Mark Tennant, Mutt Thomas, Evans & Rogers and Harley Watson, who have a combined acreage of approximately 1200.

Some 45 days will be necessary to complete this grinding of the local farmers' cane, as approximately 60,000 tons is the estimated yield.

Contracts with individual growers, such as have been in force for several years with U. S. Sugar, and now Okeelanta, are strictly regulated under the Sugar Act.

Mr. Tennant's cane is of the small barrel variety, earlier maturing, and is a good invention as is a large barrel cane, and medium season and late.

A majority of the acreage by the local farmers is of the 435 variety which matures at a time so that Okeelanta can grind it at the end of their own fields, thus allowing a longer use of the mill and facilities.

The 150-day, and longer, harvest of Glades cane is in favorable contrast with the 80 to 100 days harvest time for Louisiana cane.

What The Glades Is And What Its Doing Legion Fair Theme

Display Of Vegetables, Cattle, Fiber And Grain Arranged

The center of the Nation's winter vegetable basket — The Glades — produces some 22 varieties of vegetables in commercial quantities, and a dozen or more for home consumption.

Among the staple groceries we find sugar, beef, rice and spuds; ramsie as a fiber has about reached a stage of permanency and ready for expansion.

The high nitrogen content of our soil produces plants of a much higher protein content than in any known continental agricultural area.

All of these things, we are proud of and hence we want to show, to ourselves and our visitors, neighbors.

No organization is better equipped by inclination, ability and experience to do this job up to the hilt than the American Legion, for a greater majority of its members are directly engaged in producing the products more advantageously until the annual fair became an event of importance in southeast Florida.

Since the boys came back from that war they have taken over the work of the Legion, built themselves a handsome home, built the postoffice for Dear Uncle on a ten year lease, and have made great strides in reviving the Everglades from a vigorous and growing display of "What The Glades Is and Is Doing."

Beginning March 23rd and running thru March 28th boys will offer an exhibition of Glades doings in the form of a fair and show to the people, some of which are listed below.

Greased the wheels and gave them a push towards accomplishment of the Port Lateral, codification of City ordinances, and particularly the building code, on the recommendation of the Planning Board.

Discussed briefly a "pipe dream" of the Planning Board to take into the City all land and a lot of water lying around unincorporated generally bounded on the west by the City Hall of South Bay, the Lee land on Torry Island, and on the north by the Auction Market, on the east by Experiment Station, and on the South by Bolles Canal.

NEWS OF GLADES BOYS AND GIRLS IN THE SERVICE

By the Commanding General, Eighth United States Army in Korea.

He has recently returned to civilian life and is back at his job at American Houses, Inc., New York City.

Clayton was a resident of Belle Glade from 1932 to 1948, living with his parents at Everglades Experiment Station. He was a postmaster of the 46 senior class of Belle Glade High School. He completed four years ROTC and was promoted to 2d Lt. In June 1949 at the same time receiving his diploma from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, called to service in 1950, he served Korea in March, 1951, serving with the 1092nd Engineer Combat Battalion. Returning to the states under rotation system, Clayton completed a year and half active duty of First Lieutenant May 1, 1952.

Superintendent Cliff Greene of Glades State Prison Farm is giving final instructions to Al Kirkman, trucker who is taking 21,354 pounds of Glades steaks, on the hoof, for use of State Institutions, while P. C. Bonard, Herdman, indicates relief at the successful loading.

Debut Of Seventh Grade Band Will Be Held Sunday

The seventh grade of our local school has a 23-piece band training under Director Alan Drake ready for exposure to the public on Sunday afternoon at the High School. If the quality of music by the High School Band is an indication, the youngsters should make a very good showing. If you love music, or if you love kids and wish to lend them encouragement, you are cordially invited to be there.

The Senior Band will offer novelty numbers, marches, operatic and comedy selections, and you know what they do. The public is invited.

March 5 will be the next meeting, honoring charter members, program to be given by Mrs. Ruby Waddell.

CLAUDE JONES SUGGESTS MUNICIPAL YOUTH PANEL

City Attorney, Claude Jones, in a talk to local Rotarians Friday suggested that an appropriate recognition of America's Week would be to organize a Youth's Municipal Panel, whose purpose would be to allow high school students to conduct an election under supervision and then one day could be set aside for them to assume the various offices, appoint Commis-

Ladies And Gents Wanna Learn Boats And Help Uncle?

The U. S. Power Squadron will offer a nine week free course in piloting to boaters of both sexes and those in between, in the field, as they already have some dozen players ready.

A meeting will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock at Memorial Park in Belle Glade, and everyone interested as a player or fan is invited to attend.

The course will include sailing, boat handling, and other subjects, and is a popular league, and it is hoped that the City boys might again be similarly worked out by our boys.

Lions Entertain District Governor Kenneth Jacobson

International Councilor Emmett Roberts introduced District Governor Kenneth Jacobson of Delray Beach who inducted six new members into the local Lions Club Wednesday.

Governor Jacobson reviewed the growth of Lionsism. Florida since its first club has seen 188 clubs with a membership of 83,000 inducted. "The ten thousand club in Lions International will be formed next month," the Governor stated.

The six new members are Calvin Peacock, Rev. Robert Ford, Fred White, David Motes, Dale Davis and Ted Roman.

It was announced that Delta Sigma Phi has deposited $100 in the Everglades Federal Savings & Loan to be used on the Lions swimming pool when construction begins.

Belle Glade Port Work To Be Begun Within Few Days

The City Fathers Wednesday night directed the rock hauling department to forthwith commence the filling of a road or passageway from the Kreamer Island Road to be used as an access to the wharf and docksite of the Port of Belle Glade.

This action follows the receipt of information from the Port of Palm Beach that it had "budgeted $40,000 for the construction of said wharf" and that the money is intended to be used for such purpose just as soon as a permit is had from the Corps of U. S. Engineers and Belle Glade provides an access to the property.

Some folks accept any statement about the Port of Belle Glade as belonging in the same category as does a six-year-old's expressed desire to be a "policeman when I get big." Others point out that dockage space and other necessary facilities to allow barges to tie-up here offers very potential advantages in bringing in heavy materials, such as cement, lumber, sand, rock, fertilizer, crate material and fuel oil.

This definite action on the part of the City is a part of a plan initiated by the Chamber of Commerce several years ago and has included the securing of the plot of some thirty-odd acres from the State of Florida for a token payment with the provision that the land will all ways be used for the public good.

Commission Notes Grand Jury Action On Six-Mile Trap

The county commission this week voted to re-advertise bids for the sale of two county lots at Belle Glade and at the same time voted to reject a trio that had been received over the bids for the Glades land.

The board, on recommendation of County Attorney Harry Johnson and a motion by Commissioner Paul Rardin, voted to reject the three bids received on the basis that all three of the bidders were below the appraised value of the land which formerly served as the site of the county's highway maintenance headquarters in District Five.

Highest of the three bids received by the board was $1,500. Commissioner Rardin called that bids be called at some future date and that the forthcoming advertisement carry the bid required for the location of the board.

The board, this week, at the suggestion of Rardin, adopted a supplemental resolution to the Road Board Resolution calling attention to a project for improvement of Cardwell Rd. be included in the county's secondary road appropriations for the coming year. The project, which was originally submitted, was inadvertently omitted from the SRD final budget.

Is A Toll Highway The Answer To Florida's Highway Problem?

The nationwide revival of this 18th century financing device stems from the inability of the methods now commonly used to generate adequate funds for highway development and to allocate them efficiently. The result of the policy weaknesses is a national road system critically inadequate for present-day requirements. The seriousness of the problem is suggested in a recent Brookings Institution study which remarks: "Highway administrators are confronted with a situation analogous to that of an entire industry being overtaken by functional obsolescence."

Glades Baseball Team Organizing For Coast League

Hopes For Old Brown Farm Ball Team Reputation Sought

The South Florida Coast Glades League is organizing a group of teams for summer play, and a group from Belle Glade has evidenced interest enough to attend a meeting in Stuart last Sunday.

So far Stuart, Fort Pierce, Melbourne, Vero, Patrick Air Base, Jupiter and West Palm have indicated desire to enter teams. A group in Belle Glade want to get together a team to enter the league for a twice weekly series of games.

A casual survey indicates that the Glades has enough ball playing talent to put a strong team in the field, as they already have some dozen players ready.

A meeting will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock at Memorial Park in Belle Glade, and everyone interested as a player or fan is invited to attend.

Born, Reared And Fattened On "Home-Grown" Feeds Entirely

In these Republican days of dropping prices of the farmers products, and marked particularly in the meat industry as "after the honeymoon," its refreshing and revealing to have a clear illustration of home-grown products as the steers which Superintendent Cliff Greene shipped for the use of State institutions Monday.

This shipment of beef marks an historical event in the operation of the Glades State Prison Farm, for it is the beginning of a plan for the local institution to make its surplus production available to other State institutions.

Mr. Greene, "cracker" farmer boy, and naturally optimistic for the possibilities of agriculture in the muck, indicates a pride in this accomplishment, first, because the program of the Prison Committee of the Governor's Cabinet is taking on a new dimension, and second, because this is actual proof of the theory that a part of a plan for the local institution to make its surplus production available to other State institutions.

Try Jupiter beach if Hobe Sound fails, then Juno. February is bound to produce some big fat pompano. Fort Pierce should get the pompano just a little later. They seem to migrate in from the south each year about March with the largest concentrations

"I found Flea Powder in the YELLOW PAGES"

St. Augustine has capitalized on ancient history, as we all know, and in some cases it is a little overdone. The history was made up for the benefit of tourists; nevertheless, it is good to find a place which points to the old with pride. New Orleans "Vieux Carre" (Old Square), with the old French buildings, and streets with French names, is an outstanding example. Euphonious Sappodilla street is now plain "Gaw-gia avenue-oo," while sweet scented Rosemary street has become "Florida" avenue. Intriguing and historic old Banyan Street is just "First Street" now and the most inexcusable change of all. I remember when I was a boy in West Palm Beach every one was mighty proud of and pleased with the street names, which followed the alphabet closely while giving each street the name of a tropical flower, plant or tree. For instance, the east-west thoroughfares were, as I recall, "Acacia," then Banyan, Clematis (cave), Datura, Eucalyptus, Fern, Gardenia, Hibiscus, Iris, Jasmine, the street beginning with "K" is forgotten, but Lake View avenue came next, then Okceobee

Black Bass are not too good for eating in my opinion though many will disagree with this statement. Capt. L. B. Thomas the fish smoker in West Palm Beach, tells me black bass are excellent when smoked. I never could get a statement out of Capt. Hoke Fagan, the Fort Pierce smoke fish expert, on black bass. Next time I get a strike I'm going to let Capt. Fagan do his stuff with them. I have found that well frozen black bass filets do lose the musky or weedy taste which black bass have and I've been able to palm off such filets as "salt water fish" on some of the coasts.

New Orleans "Vieux Carre" (Old Square), with the old French buildings, and streets with French names, is an outstanding example. Euphonious Sappodilla street is now plain "Gaw-gia avenue-oo," while sweet scented Rosemary street has become "Florida" avenue. Intriguing and historic old Banyan Street is just "First Street" now and the most inexcusable change of all. I remember when I was a boy in West Palm Beach every one was mighty proud of and pleased with the street names, which followed the alphabet closely while giving each street the name of a tropical flower, plant or tree. For instance, the east-west thoroughfares were, as I recall, "Acacia," then Banyan, Clematis (cave), Datura, Eucalyptus, Fern, Gardenia, Hibiscus, Iris, Jasmine, the street beginning with "K" is forgotten, but Lake View avenue came next, then Okceobee

St. Augustine has capitalized on ancient history, as we all know, and in some cases it is a little overdone. The history was made up for the benefit of tourists; nevertheless, it is good to find a place which points to the old with pride. New Orleans "Vieux Carre" (Old Square), with the old French buildings, and streets with French names, is an outstanding example. Euphonious Sappodilla street is now plain "Gaw-gia avenue-oo," while sweet scented Rosemary street has become "Florida" avenue. Intriguing and historic old Banyan Street is just "First Street" now and the most inexcusable change of all. I remember when I was a boy in West Palm Beach every one was mighty proud of and pleased with the street names, which followed the alphabet closely while giving each street the name of a tropical flower, plant or tree. road—and the woods! For that is just the south end of town that the south end of a little town which resembled closely a little garden of eden. The north end streets included: Nanyah, Olive, Polinetta, Rosemary, Sappodilla, Tamarind and some others. So it is a sad experience for me today to go into the old town and find an ordinary to, trashy-sounding "first street" where romantic Banyan street once was! And I find names like Rosemary and Sappodilla replaced with "Gaw-gia" and "Flaw-r-ida" a e n e u s t

Photography surely belongs to fishing, hunting and the outdoor sports. Most outdoorsmen are terrific photographers, but the new cameras with flash bulb attachments make good pictures easy. I have myself just purchased such a camera and the first 12 pictures were all good and suitable for photo engraving. One should lay it down as a rule that no picture will ever be made without a flash bulb. In bright sunlight a bulb is especially in order as it knocks out the shadows under the eyes and around the eyes, and similar. In dull light a bulb is absolutely essential. These cameras no longer are expensive and every fisherman will want to buy one, plus a case of two flash bulbs,—and then watch the surprising results.

This column invites such photographers to mail in some good prints too. Some of them will be published. So now to get pictures for next week's column.

SAND LAND STOCKERS STRONGER QUALITY
 With the quality off a bit and a consequent slight lowering in price, 516 cattle were handled last Monday at the Glades Livestock Market.

Sand land stockers demand was strong. Seventy percent of the cattle sold went to slaughter.

 ment and the current work is only the beginning of the overall plan.

The site, a nib of the lower part of Torrey Island faces on the cross-state canal and allows a land-locked boat with protection from the open waters of the Lake, as well as from the channel paralleling the dike, yet affording ready access to both.

Commissioner Ashley represented the Commission on the subject of the proposed canal to the Harris and Luther Jones, of Juno.

ROTARY'S MUSICAL REVUE GENUINELY ENJOYED BY AUDIENCE & PARTICIPANTS

Local musical talent corralled by Mrs. Dorothea Ingram and including Rotary member themselves presented a variety revue which was well received by an audience of more than 400 and thoroughly enjoyed by the participants.

Participants under the sponsorship of the local Rotary Club, in the High School Gym, Friday night.

The club members acted as chorus and sang old southern ballads; the Packhouse Four, composed of Sonny Smith, Barnes Crech, Milton Carpenter and Dr. Tom Force harmonized. Three high school young ladies — Misses Pat Tatum, Patty Ingram and Joanne Holladay were enthusiastically received as a unit as were Miss Tatum and Miss Holladay in solos.

Cleopatra Dell, as a pianist was most heartily applauded and complimented.

Milton Carpenter's deep bass voice in the Old Bass Viol rendition was especially well received.

Mrs. Jean Martin Roemer in Alice Blue Gown caused many a heart to flutter in recollection.

Tommy Forsee and Mrs. Ingram indulged in a fetching vocal specialty and Tom Bregger in "World War I" memories.

was led from the stage by a flaming "red dress" worn by Miss Alice Bask.

Miss Gail Sasser in interpretative and Isadore-Duncan-type dancing was well received by the spectators with compliments.

Don Day, as accompanist and soloist at the piano gave the ivories a professional treatment to the enjoyment of everyone.

Lois G. Finley, Ballerina of the American School of Ballet Studios in the Everglades Theatre, presented a "Can-Can" dance of the Goy Nineties, with rapt attention from the chorus on stage as well as the paid admissions.

Several Rotarians were heard to say "Well, if the paid customers enjoyed it as much as I, it's a success."

Ballots For Directors To Be Tabulated Monday

Ballots cast for four members of the board of directors of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce will be tabulated at 5 pm Monday, according to W. A. Wooten, Jr., committee chairman.

Members are urged to vote and return their ballots by this afternoon, (Friday) in order to be valid.

Up to the fact that some ballots were late in reaching members, a time extension until Monday, March 2nd has been set for this group, Mr. Wooten stated.

Since 97 percent of the registered membership voted in the November 11th general election, Chamber officials have set their sights on a high percentage of membership vote in the board election.

HIGH GALLONAGE PLANE SPRAYING FOR GLADES CROPS OFFERED HERE

Dan Johnson and J. L. Schraeder have established for their company space at the Belle Glade Airport from which service to Glades farmers is available for plane spraying of fertilizers, fungicides, insecticides and minerals.

Mr. Schraeder in commenting on his work said, "High gallonage liquid spraying by plane allows the use of nutritional combined with needed fungicides, and is becoming widespread and profitable among progressive farmers."

"Advantages of liquid fertilizers applied by airplane are

1. We can rapidly increase the production of your vegetables and pastures.

2. We can kill the insects present in vegetables or pastures.

3. We can apply fungicides which will economically inhibit diseases that exist.

Co-ops help keep more money in our town!

HOW? Because co-ops are always locally owned and controlled.

The savings they return to their patrons, stay in the community to help build all kinds of business.

In a single year, co-op savings returned to patrons in just one state, totalled $17,500,000. This meant additional buying power for automobiles, clothing, appliances, furniture, groceries, insurance, and scores of other needed commodities and services.

Cooperative patronage refunds help make local business better... benefit the whole community.

Heresies Danger To Christianity In Early Church

"Four major features of Christianity became clearly defined in the first three centuries of the history of the Church: governments by bishops, the Sacraments, the formation of the New Testament, and the Creeds." This statement was made last Sunday night, by the Rev. John Clarence Petrie, before the Belle Glade Episcopalians, meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Matthews. Father Petrie said that the threat of heresy and schism, in the Church was a greater danger than the persecutions of the Roman government. Christianity would have faded in, had any of the heresies gained the upper hand. Some denied Christ's divinity, some denied His humanity. In the course of meeting the many heresies, the Church clarified its own beliefs, and set up the doctrine that the bishops, inheritors of the power of the Apostles, were the official custodians of Christian revelation.

MR. AND MRS. JOHNSON REPRESENT LDS CHURCH

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Johnson of Logan, Utah, have been assigned as missionaries to the Everglades area for a period of three months representing the Latter Day Saints. They are making the Central Hotel in Belle Glade their headquarters according to Mrs. H. B. Walker. Johnson was the guest speaker at the evening service last Sunday.

GROUP ATTENDS CHURCH WITH LAKE WALES GROUP

A motorcycle from the South Bay Baptist Church made a trip to Lake Wales Sunday, attended the Westside Baptist Church service and heard their former pastor, the Rev. B. A. Oswald, conduct the service in his present pastorate.

The group carried a picnic dinner and supper, visited Bok Tower and other points of interest during the afternoon and attended the Passion Play in the evening.

TRI-F CLASS ENTERTAINS WITH POT LUCK DINNER

Mrs. J. R. Faulk, Mrs. Clarence Kidder, and Mrs. R. S. Burr were hostesses at a pot luck dinner for the Tri-F Class of the Community Methodist Church, Thursday evening after church.

Games and entertainment was in charge of Joe Cooke. Final plans were completed for the winter roast, and party for the cub scouts on Sunday, during the business session presided over by F. C. Schoenfeld.

Other members attending were Mrs. Floyd Rider, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Kidder, Mrs. Frank Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. John Schoenfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rider, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Schoenfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Boots, Mrs. R. E. Tucker, Mrs. E. L. Holiday, Miss Terry Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. White and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cooke. Mr. and Mrs. William Kimbel were guests.

WSCS Circles Meet Schoenfeld Home

Mrs. S. K. Smith, Jr., led the discussion on the last few chapters of the study book, "Towards understanding the Bible," at the meeting Tuesday night, where members of the Star Circle at the home of Mrs. John Schoenfeld.

"Theme of Brotherhood," was the devotional given by Mrs. Clarence Kidder.

Mrs. Schoenfeld presided over the business meeting. Plans were made for the WSCS to meet at the hospital, the last two weeks in March. It was announced that a district meeting will be held at West Palm Beach March 17, at the Wagg Memorial Church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. John Schoenfeld and Mrs. S. K. Schoenfeld. Other members present were: Mrs. Emil Wolf, Mrs. Edward Gamm, Mrs. Frank Morris, Mrs. H. L. Royal, Mrs. A. D. Arnold, Mrs. Vernie Boots, Mrs. Russell Tucker, Miss Sara Diggs, Mrs. Rawls Mackey, Mrs. Urban Felsing, Mrs. Fred White, Mrs. E. L. ADVENTISTS USING TELEVISION IN WORK

With more than 20,710,000 TV sets in the United States and an additional 5 million in 1953 the church cannot afford to overlook its obligation to make use of this potential modern pulpit, stated Elder Ludwig, pastor of the West Palm Beach, Seventh Day Adventist Church.

With 150 to 200 new television stations expected in 1953, the minister said, we must plan actively to do our part to see that cheap and unwholesome programs do not monopolize this potent influence in the American home.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS GOES TO WEST PALM

A group of boys were entertained last Saturday, by the Sunday School-teacher, V. L. Jones, of the Central Baptist Church of Belle Glade. They went swimming in the afternoon at the Lido Pool, West Palm Beach, had a picnic supper, and attended the evening at Skatland.

Somehow we are able to fool other people; maybe we can even fool ourselves for a moment. We can put up a righteous front for others and for ourselves. But God is not fooled, and our conscience

New man stronger, happier, and more joyful when we live in the light of God's love, instead of being trying to hide from Him!

SPAGHETTI SUPPER LEGION HALL BY LUTHERAN GROUP

At the home of Mrs. Victor Green Tuesday night, with Mrs. Frank Kruse, presiding, the Ladies Aid of St. Peter's Lutheran Church made plans for adding to the groups finances, by a rummage sale and a spaghetti supper.

The rummage sale is to be held Saturday, March 7th, and the supper on April 14th.

Another constructive work of the group followed the regular meeting when hymn books were covered with a preservative.

In the meeting a study of Women of The Bible was continued.

Mrs. Allhands was remembered at the Good Samaritan Hospital by a message and flowers from the group.

Members attending were, Mrs. Dallas Nehl, Mrs. Harold Riedel, Mrs. Paul Kirchman, Mrs. Bob Fliche, Mrs. Clarence Luhmann, and Mrs. Louie Kirchman.

EPISCOPALIANS TO MEET AT BELL HOME

Belle Glade Episcopalians will meet next Sunday night, at 6 pm, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Bell, 606 1/2 South Main St.

Father Petrie will then speak on "The Church of the Middle Ages." The public is cordially invited.

Church of Christ

Outline for the INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON March 1, 1953—by Robert Ford LESSON TITLE—"JESUS CONDEMNS FALSE LEADERSHIP" Scripture—Matthew 23: 1-12, 37-39

Introduction:

This condemnation is directed at the religious leaders who had forsake the spirit of the Law for a letter of the Law or made worship to become—merely a set of rules.

Aim:

1. To show that the form of worship without obedience to God is not acceptable to Him.
2. To show that right conduct is essential to worship that is pleasing to God.
3. To consider hypocrisy as it is found in speech, conduct, and worship.
4. To emphasize God's desire for consecrated lives.

Conclusions:

- vs. 1-7 Jesus condemns the Pharisees because of variance of profession with practice. They lacked pity and love in their heartless application of the Law to the people. They sought prestige because of their position, rather than seeking to humbly serve.
- vs. 8-12 Jesus tells that he is the one true Master, and he alone is to be honored; not the one who is to tell people of Christ. We must learn to love all for whom Christ died. True greatness comes through being the servant of all.
- vs. 37-39 Jesus emphasizes all he has taught in his lament over the people of Jerusalem.

The Lost Book

In 2 Kings 22 we read the story of the good king Josiah and his efforts to lead the people of the kingdom of Judah back to the ways of righteousness. One of his projects was the repair of the temple of God, which had become quite run-down during the long period of the nation's wickedness. During the process of this repair work, Hilkiah the high priest found a strange book in the house of God. Imagine the surprise of the leaders of Judah when this book was recognized as the law of the Lord, neglected for so long that its message had been largely forgotten and it had become a lost book! And the most shameful part of all was that the lost book was found, not hidden in some robber's cave, nor buried beneath piles of rubbish in an antique dealer's warehouse, but right where it belonged—in the house of the Lord!

In our own time and country the Book of the Lord is available to all. There is scarcely a home in this nation where the Bible may not be found, and year after year the Book continues to stand at the top of the list of "best sellers." But in spite of all this, there are multitudes right here in our own country to whom the Bible is a lost book. Lost, as in ancient Judah, right under their noses. The benefits they receive from it are indirect and not direct, because they no longer read it for themselves. All they know about it is what they may chance to read in the paper or some periodical, or what they may hear some speaker say about it. Consequently, they may know much about it but very little of it. This makes them easily confused in matters of Bible teaching, and renders them vulnerable to the delusions of most any kind of collection-grabbing huckster who may happen to parade by in the stolen garb of religion.

The Holy Scriptures were not given by God to serve as a hiding place for things of sentimental value, nor to gather dust as a household decoration, nor as a keepsake commemorating our birth, marriage or such like. Rather, they were given to be studied (2 Tim. 2:15), to make us wise unto salvation (2 Tim. 3:15), to furnish us for every good work (2 Tim. 3:17), to be digested as spiritual food (1 Pet. 2:2), to be transcribed upon the hearts and minds of men (Heb. 8:10), and to serve as a criterion for evaluating the doctrine of every teacher of religion (Acts 17:11). Let us beware lest the word of God become a lost book with us, for as surely as the Bible becomes a lost book, the soul of man also becomes a lost soul.

Churches of Christ, Scientist

Theme of services next Sunday in Christian Science churches is the healing and redemptive work of the great Wayshower. "CHRIST JESUS" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon.

A verse from John 3:17 provides the Golden Text: "God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved."

Included in Bible selections is the account of Jesus healing the man ill for thirty-eight years: "Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole." (John 5: 8, 9).

Correlative citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "The many Bible Nazarene overthrew the supposition that sin, sickness, and death have power. He proved them powerless. Divine Truth, Life, and Love gave Jesus authority over sin, sickness, and death" p. 228.

Never value anything as profitable to thyself which shall compel thee to break thy promise; to lose thyself; to respect to hate any man, to suspect, to curse, the act the hypocrite, to desire anything which needs walls and curtains.—Marcus Aurelius.

WIRING CAUSE OF FIRE AT WILLITS RESIDENCE

The South Bay Fire Department responded to a call Monday just before noon. Fire Chief Mead Willis and fireman Frank Willis, J. W. Mathewson and other members of the crew sped to the home of Frank Willis where the roof had been reported on fire.

Fire Chief Willis later reported that the electric wires leading from the pole to the house had in some manner broken loose from the attachment to the house and one had fallen over, a guy wire supporting the aerial to the T V set in such a manner that ash or circuit had been set up leading up under the roof.

The fire was reported by Rufus Levans and the prompt arrival of the fire department on the scene permitted the fire to be brought under control promptly with some damage to the roof of the house and water damage to the interior and furnishings.

JULIUS HERRING INJURED

Julius Herring of Hooker's Point had the misfortune last week to catch his right hand in the belt of his drainage pump in such a manner that the little finger was severed at the first joint and his thumb and two other fingers severely injured. He was rushed to the Clevelston Hospital where the hand was dressed and it is hoped the thumb and other fingers will heal without amputation.

GASTRONOMICS, FINANCE AND SOCIAL ADVANCEMENT IN LEGION BARBECUE

The annual American Legion barbecue served Friday night at the Legion Hall in South Bay proved a huge success. Approximately 750 plates were served and $1400.00 taken in to replenish the treasury and meet the requirements of the building.

A Remington automatic shotgun was won by C. Parker of Belle Glade and a $100 set of silverware was won by Ralph Freeman of Belle Glade.

Isn't it peculiar that the human brain begins to function from the moment you are born, improves as you grow older, then stops completely when you stand up to talk?

Activities of Glades Scouts

How important are clubs and organizations to you children? One mother learned this when an incident happened in her home. Little Sally came home in tears, knowing that her daughter and planned to join the Brownies, the mother wondered why she was so distressed. She learned that Sally could not join, because the troop was too large and that another troop could not be organized, for lack of leaders. The child was heart broken, after waiting weeks for her seventh birthday, to join her friends, in the Brownie troop.

This situation exists in the Brownie troop in Belle Glade, the seven-year-old Brownies, which is the beginning of scouting. A troop consists of not more than 16 members, so that every child can get the full benefit of the scouting program.

Mrs. Fred Raulerson and Mrs. Russell Tucker have 26 members in the Brownie troop, they have refused to turn any child away so far, as they know how much it means to the children. Two troop leaders are badly needed, for the seven year group. If you are interested, but feel that you do not know enough about scouting go to a troop meeting, or get in touch with your daughter's leader and if you are pleased with her efforts, tell her so.

Assistant leaders are also needed for the eight and nine-year-old Brownies. Mrs. Gary Arnold and Mrs. Culey Taylor have done a remarkable job so far, they too need more help. If you do not have more leaders soon, each mother will be required to attend at least one meeting a month and assist with the program before her child can join.

Mrs. A. B. McCormick, chairman of girl scouts, will attend meetings of all troops, and give spot training and advice where needed. Cards, pins and certificates were given to troops this very important and mothers are urged to come and share this honor with their daughters.

Pointing of the scout hut has been completed. Donating their services were Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Parson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Herbert Beck and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McCormick.

INTERMEDIATE SCOUTS MEET WITH LEADERS

The ten and eleven year old intermediate Girl Scouts met on Feb. 16th at the Scout Hut with their leaders, Mrs. Jay Wright and Mrs. W. D. Matthews.

Terry Tucker called the meeting to order and led the girls in the Girl Scout Promise. The roll was called and dues collected by Linda Close, following which the members studied the scouting laws and tied knots in a rope. Games were played outside. The girls also made a circle and wished to themselves. Present were Rhyllys Buss, Marilyn Mullins, Paula Parson, Terry Tucker, Jane Young, Donna Jean Kirkham, Linda McDonald, Lillian Bass, Marjorie McDonald, Mary Goforth, Doris Zieman, Jane Betts and Carmen Gutierrez.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

From: [Signature]
U.S.S.

WASHINGTON — Chairman Hugh Butler had a picture made the other day of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs of which I am in my third year of membership. I looked around and discovered that I am now fourth from the top on the Democratic side. It was a pleasant feeling having three juniors below me.

In our Capitol Hill system which operates under that magic word, seniority, we always work from the bottom up on committee and from the attic down in office assignments. A member of Congress starts from the inside of the building and takes several years to get an office with an outside view, but in the inner councils he stays on the inside at first and gradually works his way into the huddles to a point where he can hear.

If he stays long enough he may hope for one of the beautiful outside offices on the main floor and to an inside spot in the making of policy. One member remarked facetiously that "The trouble is that by then he is so old and decrepit he can barely totter to his charming suite and so dear he can't hear what is going on anyway."

You may be surprised to know it, but things seem to be a little better than in the old days in the Senate. The seniority system still works, and my staff and I are still in cramped quarters on the inside of the building. But I can hear all right and my walk is a shade above a totter to the Democratic councils. (But I don't want to start again at the bottom—and on the outside.)

CAPITOL HILL NOTES. We solved the mystery of my Feb. 1 newspaper; they were nearly a week late and missed the papers because a mail chute here got stopped up. . . . My recent appearance on "American Forum of the Air" has brought me a record "fan mail," resulting in 100-to-one favorable to my evaluation of "The Future of the Democratic Party." . . . One of our busiest but most satisfactory days last week brought us an apartment solution to the Egin Field housing problem and approval of the St. Petersburg airport project. . . . Census Bureau has informed Senator Holland and me that Florida's population now stands at 2,981,000 a year ago and 2,771,305 in 1950. . . . The state grows so fast the Census Bureau has a hard time keeping up.

VETERANS INFORMATION

Payments to veterans for benefits administered by the Veterans Administration are tax-free and need not be reported in computing income tax, the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the VA reminded veterans.

Speakers added that dividends which veterans have received on their GI insurance policies also are exempt from taxation and need not be reported.

Among the tax-exempt VA payments are the following: Subistence allowances for World War II veterans training in schools, on farms and on-the-job under the GI Bill.

Subsistence payments made to disabled World War II and Korean veterans in training under Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Education and training allowances for post-Korean veterans enrolled in schools and training establishments under the Korean GI Bill.

Payments by VA to be applied to veterans' GI loans. Under the GI Bill, VA pays the lender an amount equivalent to four percent of the guaranteed portion of the loan up to a maximum of $160 which is credited to the veteran's account.

Disability compensation and pensions paid to veterans for both service-connected and non-service-connected disabilities.

World War I emergency of ficer's retirement pay.

Death benefits to families of deceased veterans are also exempt from taxation, it was pointed out. These include compensation, pension and all GI insurance payments.

EVEN THE MUFFLER
DOES THINGS TO THE POWER

BACK in the old days, any man who wanted real performance used a "cutout" on his car.

It was a device that by-passed the muffler—because mufflers have always cut down on usable power. But it made a lot of noise.

Muffling that noise—and still getting rid of exhaust gases as fast as they come from the cylinders—has stumped the automobile people for years.

Now, Buick engineers have racked up another "first."

They have come up with a muffler of supreme quiet and zero power loss—first time in history.

It is called a dynamic flow muffler. And it is one of many advances that make that great 1953 Buick ROADMASTER even greater.

For this automobile—the greatest Buick in fifty great years—has a brilliant new V8 Engine that can turn up 188 hp. And even one of its horsepower can be delivered as usable power—since none is restricted in muffler passage.

As you would expect, there is more to this magnificent motorcar than power, great though it is.

There's a finer ride, better maneuverability, easier handling—now with Power Steering as standard equipment, and Power Brakes optional at extra cost.

And there's the amazing new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow bringing quieter, jet-fast getaway to complete and utter smoothness.

Why not come in and see for yourself just how great the greatest Buick in half a century really is?

Select perfect, well-formed flowers.
Place in deep water overnight so only flower head is above water.
Select perfect leaf sprays. Harden in water overnight, same as flowers. Cut more than you think you need.
Wiring the Flowers
Use 5" - 6" length of corsage wire, or milk wire, for each flower.
Select end of flower with wire, draw through 1/2" to 1" wire, then roll up around base of flower. Then roll up around wire, holding the wire tightly between thumb and forefinger. Hold tape in other hand (left) so tape will stretch at angle around wire. This takes practice.
Wrap in bottom of wire turning in tape to hide cut end of wire.
Arranging the Flowers
After all flowers and leaves have been wired and taped, arrange flowers in one hand and place on foliage to achieve desired effect. Then with another piece of corsage tape wrap all wired and taped stems together.
Making the Bow
Practice with old pieces of ribbon. Twist ribbons as you do for gift packages so the loops are about 4" long. Loops of uneven lengths are nicest. Make four to five loops. Fasten in center of loops with small piece of wire. Tapes approximately a yard of ribbon per bow.

Leaves
Suggested long-lasting (if conditioned) material for corsages: Gardenia, Grape Ivy, Ixora, Lorain, —shorten at stem end, Citrus.
Flowers
Suggested long-lasting (if conditioned) material for corsages: Calandula, Marigolds, Roses, Rose Bush, Carnations, Gardenias, Chrysanthemums, Gladiolus, Ixora.
Suggestions
1. 3 Calandulas on a rosette of loquat leaves, orange bow.
2. Rose bush, 1 rose on grape ivy leaves, pink bow.
3. 5 Chrysanthemums on a rosette of grapefruit leaves, yellow bow.
Nosegays

IS A TOLL HIGHWAY
This state's highway system by an engineering consulting firm reveal a discouraging picture of black prospects for their country. According to the estimates, effective modernization would require an outlay of nearly $1 billion during the next three years while expected revenues total only about one-fifth of the cost. The long-term prospects are not much brighter. If all anticipated highway revenues were poured into the system for the next 20 years, there would still be a backlog of needed construction totaling about a half billion dollars.

A simple comparison of aggregated needs and revenues is not fully revealing since the deficiencies are largely concentrated on the most important traffic routes. Disbursements are channeled on a basis that gives insufficient weight to capital traffic and capacity requirements, resulting in a disproportionately small allocation of funds to the high-density arteries. In 1951 the Florida state primary system consisted of 9,572 miles, representing 18 percent of the total mileage. This network, however, handled 53 percent of the traffic and had 880 percent of the deficiencies anticipated over the next two decades.
How could such gross inadequacies so quickly appear in the state and national highway systems despite the high rate of rapid capital investment? Much of our difficulty is traceable to inadequate highway planning in the formative years, when the rapid expansion of automotive ownership forced primary emphasis on immediately usable facilities. Too often this meant the building of relatively permanent surfaces to wagon roads with a minimum of straightening and widening. The further failure to provide the highways against the encroachments of property owners led to exorbitant right-of-way costs when redesign and reconstruction became necessary.
Thus frozen into its initial mold, the highway plant is quite unable to keep up with the demands imposed by the unprecedented traffic increases of recent years. Motor vehicle registrations in Florida shot up by 50 percent in the last decade, and surveys indicate that the traffic advance was even greater. There has been an especially rapid increase in the volume of the more demanding types of vehicles, particularly of the large tractor-trailer combinations.
On the revenue side is another discouraging picture. State funds for highway purposes are derived primarily from gasoline taxes and license fees, although in Florida the latter are not available for highway uses. Despite some recent increases in these assessments in a few states, they have been highly stable. Florida's seven-cent gasoline tax is the same as it was in 1931. In the face of the inadequacy of user charges for the modernization task, the only real alternative is borrowing. Most jurisdictions, however, are committed to a pay-as-you-go philosophy for highway construction and many have debt ceilings which have already been reached. The Florida constitution prohibits the incurring of state debt for any purpose except to repel invasion or to put down insurrection. Unless user charges are increased substantially, it is difficult to see how extensive modernization programs can be undertaken without borrowing. Indeed, one might well question whether present users can equitably be expected to finance from their current contributions modern highways designed to serve for many years in the future.
In addition to the insufficiency of total revenues, the problem of securing a more economic application of available funds must be faced. The allocation practices at both the federal and state levels make it virtually impossible to concentrate capital outlays on the high-density segments where needs are greatest. The federal government has contributed to this undesirable diffusion of funds not only by failing to give adequate weight to traffic density in allocating money among the states, but also by increasing sharply the number of miles of road eligible for federal grants. In Florida this mileage increased by 30 percent in the years 1946-50.
At the state level, distribution of revenues among the counties is likewise based, to a large extent, on considerations which give insufficient or no weight to traffic densities and actual capital requirements. The allocation of a large part of Florida's seven-cent gasoline tax is based on population, area, and contribution to the state's roads constructed prior to 1931. The highway engineering consulting firm concluded that the gasoline tax in Florida is slowly evolving a sprawling, disconnected system of improved county roads which serve isolated needs. It called for a revision of allocation methods to insure that the portions of the arterial system with the greatest traffic would receive an automatic priority for construction funds.
Although perhaps not exhaustive, the above factors constitute the essential elements of the "highway problem." The inadequacy of the system is a problem which must be faced and accepted. If the problem is to be handled, major changes must be made on the revenue side. The vitality which the toll-road movement will have throughout the country doubtless depends largely on the success with which needed reforms are achieved. In addition, many of the failure to make progress on this front that the toll road is receiving so wide attention.

The Toll-Road Movement
The toll road is not offered by its proponents as a universal substitute for existing financing methods, but as an appropriate medium for high-density arteries where reconstruction is most urgent and where the cost per mile of the required superior facilities is very high. Since the extent of such highways is relatively small, the toll road can be a significant factor in the modernization program even though only a small fraction of the total mileage is involved. Eighteen states have adopted the toll-road principle for main arteries totaling nearly 2,000 miles, of which 750 miles are now in use. In addition, many other states have toll programs under consideration, the adoption of which would bring the mileage to well over 8,000. The best known of these projects is the Pennsylvania Turnpike which was opened for traffic in 1940. A special turnpike commission is typically established to manage the facility, primarily to insure insulation of the management from political pressures. Financing is usually handled by bonds issued by this special agency and secured by the toll revenues but not by the credit of the state. Rather close liaison is generally maintained between the commission and the state highway department, with the head of the latter commonly serving as an ex officio member of the turnpike authority. Tolls range from 1 to 1.5 cents per mile, for passenger cars and somewhat higher for trucks and buses. The facilities provided represent the ultimate in highway design, embracing multiple lanes, separation of opposing traffic, elimination of grade crossings of other highways and of rail lines, limited access, and restriction of advertising and property encroachments on the right-of-way. The prospects for the financial success of all roads under operation are outstanding. It must be emphasized, however, that all are located on high-density traffic sections.
It is in this setting of financial stringency, coupled with the highly promising experiences of other states, that a

Trucks are more truck for the money!

4 powerful reasons why you get more of what you want ...

- more engine power
- more staying power
- more braking power
- more economy

Advanced Loadmaster engine—standard on 5000, 6000 Series and forward-control models, optional on 4000 Series heavy-duty trucks. Heavier, stronger, more durable frames increase rigidity, add to ruggedness and stamina of 1953 Chevrolet trucks. Trucks up to 4000 Series heavy-duty models have "Torque-Action" brakes. Series 4000 and above use "Torque-Action" brakes in front. "Twin-Action" in rear. New stamina plus extra gasoline economy in heavy-duty models with Loadmaster engine, reduces hauling costs per ton-mile.

THE COUNTY ELEMENTARY CURRICULUM MEETING

The County Elementary Curriculum meeting was held at Everglades Vocational High, Belle Glade, Florida, Tuesday afternoon, February 17, 1953, at 4:00 o'clock with Miss Panchita Harrison Presiding. The group gathered in the music room for a short devotion, where they enjoyed a solo, rendered by an eighth grade student, Irvan Cooper of Bryant School.

The group then assembled in the Home Economics Room where the meeting was opened by Miss Harrison. The minutes of the last meeting on the coast were read by Mrs. Melba James. Mrs. C. Person gave a report of the meetings held in the Glades area. At this time Miss Harrison opened the discussion on "Grouping" and how it can be done most advantageously in the classrooms.

Mrs. Eva P. Oliver of Lake Shore Elementary School gave an enlightening demonstration, "Creative Drawing Art, and some methods of teaching art to the elementary children. Questions asked by teachers present were entertained by Mrs. Oliver and Miss Harrison.

After the business side of the meeting was over, the group was served a refreshing repast by the E. V. H. Elementary teachers.

The next meetings will be held thus: Glades area — May 27, 1953, at Rosewald Elementary, South Bay, Florida. On the Coast — May 21, 1953, at Palmview Elementary in West Palm Beach, Florida. The last general meeting will be held at Palmview Elementary, West Palm Beach, Florida.

Red Cross News
Mrs. Annie L. Williams, Mrs. E. Powell, teacher-sponsors and Mary Thompson, president of the Junior Red Cross, attended the area meeting at Bean City Elementary School.

The Junior Red Cross Council of West Palm Beach asked Mary Thompson to serve as a counselor at the Jr. Red Cross camp, April 24-26, in Miami, Florida. Our school may send five representatives to the Jr. Red Cross camp. They must come from grades 8-11.

N.F.A. News
The time to turn in gift boxes was extended a week. The local council made favors for Washington's birthday.

The area Red Cross meeting will be held March 23, at Roosevelt High School in West Palm Beach, Florida.

The officers and members of our local N.F.A. chapter met recently for the purpose of making plans for the local N.F.A. Banquet scheduled for April 16.

A committee was formed to meet with the NHA group to set the budget. The two organizations will need to complete plans for the occasion. Other committees were formed, and Mrs. Hollida, the local N.F.A. advisor, explained the duties of each committee.

Plans are also being made to complete the planning program set-up for our land laboratory plot for this year. Our land has been plowed. Our demonstration projects are open for observation to anyone who desires to see them.

Mark 13:37

And what I say unto you I say unto all: Watch.

I am 25 years of age, a minister in Christ. I was here in the hospital now eleven months. I was sanctified about 2 weeks after I was here in the hospital. I was very mischievous young man. But God didn't let me die in my sins. I was a gambler, but I was a Christian. But I was so bad that they are deathrattle to my soul. I was a smoker, but thanks be to God I put it down. I am a visitor. I am glad if I repent and listen to God he will raise me up.

I cried all that morning happy. Because I felt the joy of my soul. The nurses believe I wouldn't walk. I prayed all the time. Now the Revelation was revealing to me I didn't had a bible. But thank God I asked one of the nurses to buy me a Bible. I was laying in a position I could not turn, Because by Back was Broken and I was paralyzed about 6 months, But I kept my faith. If I was to die I Believe I would of went to hell Because I was interesting of the pain. But thanks Be to God I meant Business with Christ. Matt 6:33. But seek ye first the Kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things will be added unto you.

Thank the Lord I have seek and find my precious Savior which is Jesus Christ and don't serve none other. In Jeremiah 29:13 And ye shall seek me and find me when ye shall search for me with all your heart.

I can't stop thanking him Because he is to good for me. I wish tell us about the way of holiness. No unclean or fools shall past over it. Let us get on street and get (out) of Broad Street. That we may be able to bring our children the way God intend to be. This is time we can see the war clouds hanging along around. People are shortening there lives by disobedient. Mothers are leading there children astray into the pit of hell friends let us stop and think and help the fellow who can help himself.

Love is fulfillment of the law. Christ love us we should love each other. Christ brought the two greatest Commandments All is love. Friends don't let take the love world. Let us seek him for ourselves. Luke 9:2 say: No man having put his hand to the Plow and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God. If we are working for Christ, let the pleasure of the world go, and cling to Jesus Christ. All in this world is vanity. Jesus said he go to prepare a place for us. Let us try and work for that place. Christ needs men in the vineyard. Let volunteer ourselves to try and build up a better Community. Because if we do good the rest will follow. We the righteous has to bear the weak. The clouds get there water from the sea and pours it on the earth. Men should get there doctrine from God and pour it out to the people. I don't believe in getting it from man or going to college to preach. I believe in the power of Jesus Christ. Christ called me not man. They can only tell me. But I believe in Jesus my master and friend and Reverend and all in all to me.

Let all Sleepers wake up, all lukewarmers warm up, all disgruntled measure up, all gossips shut up, all Dry Bones shake up, all True Soliders stand up, all saints pray up.

An one can preached it but he has to live it, it's a time for everything. Seek the Lord while he may be found calling upon him while he is near. Let us live in unity and pray for each other. Don't let us love our neighbor today and hate tomorrow. A Christian has to love every Body and Be meek and Humble. You has to humble yourself to walk with God. He don't walk with the proud nor the Scornful, all who read this portion pray for me and I will do the same for you all, and can drop me a postcard or a letter. May you all be ready and watch and pray and have a pure heart in Jesus holy name, Amen.

A Moving Picture 20 Years Old

The family of this lady and her granddaughters would find this the most moving picture in the world. It all started twenty years ago when the girls' father took out his life insurance policy with Gulf Life.

As the years went on, he was able to change the provisions of the policy. As the children were born — when his father died. So when tragedy took him and his wife, the grandmother was able to take the girls in and help to rear them.

Your Gulf Life agent can show how your policy may be changed to meet the changing conditions of your life. He can show you, too, how its value increases yearly.

Your Gulf Life agent can help you with many problems in forecasting the future for yourself and your family. Better call him for a talk — today!

What is back of the million plus Gulf Life policies and the agents who look after them? This year-end balance sheet tells the story of Gulf Life's strength and security.
